Office of General Education and Global Engagement

“In keeping with the vision of the college, to be distinguished as a college that transforms the lives of its students and its communities, and in keeping with the goal of preparing students through multiple opportunities to experience distant cultures and diverse peoples, the programs overseen by this office will be embedded in the values of global knowledge, diversity, and responsible citizenship.”

The Office of General Education and Global Engagement was created in January 2012 in response to the increasing focus on study away opportunities as outlined in LaGrange College’s strategic plan, Vision 2020: From Promise to Prominence. The office will oversee the following programs:

1. The Interim Term during January which offers faculty-led Study Away courses here in the United States and abroad and also offers on-campus classes that are exploratory in nature.
2. The development of semester or year-long study abroad programs for students and faculty.
3. Creating ways to increase the frequency of study away opportunities throughout the year.
4. Advising incoming international students.
5. The Core Curriculum, required courses which are designed to improve students’ creative, critical, and communicative abilities, while also developing a global context for study and contemplation.

Contacts:

Dr. Sarah Beth Mallory
Associate Provost, General Education and Global Engagement
201 Quillian Building
706-880-8338
smallory@lagrange.edu

Michele Raphoon
Program Coordinator, General Education and Global Engagement
200 Quillian Building
706-880-8429
mraphoon@lagrange.edu